I'm a 19-year-old student at St Mary's University, Twickenham, with a strong interest in applying data science to support and enhance football performance. I enjoy working with data not just to understand the game, but to help inform better decisions on and off the pitch.

My experience so far includes statistical modelling, performance tracking, and tactical analysis, all driven by a genuine love for football. I'm particularly interested in how data can complement coaching insight, and I'm always looking to develop my skills further by learning from real-world environments.

Experience

Milton Keynes College Football Academy / Performance Analysis Intern

JULY 2024 - PRESENT

Produced post-match analysis reports that tracked performance trends, highlighted improvement areas, and informed coaching feedback.

Collected and coded live match data using Dartfish Note and paper notation, delivering actionable half-time insights to inform in-game tactical adjustments.

Collaborated closely with coaching staff and players, translating data into clear, practical insights that contributed to team strategy.

Milton Keynes College Football Academy / Opposition Analysis Assistant

DECEMBER 2023 - MAY 2024

Developed pre-match reports by analysing footage and opposition data, directly supporting coaching decisions, helping the team prepare for upcoming fixtures.

Developed skills in data gathering, tactical interpretation, and concise reporting within a professional football environment.

Testimonial

Throughout Miles' time with us, he has consistently demonstrated professionalism, reliability, and a genuine passion for analysis. He works closely and effectively with the coaching staff, providing insights that helped inform training plans, match preparation, and post-match reflection.

One of his standout qualities is his clarity in communication; he takes instruction well, meets deadlines and always ensures his work aligns with the needs of the coaching team. He is driven, eager to learn, and clearly motivated to develop his skill set within the field of performance analysis. His commitment, curiosity, and willingness to go the extra mile make him a valuable part of our academy environment.
